

Why CDW is your perfect BlackBerry® solutions provider

As enterprise mobility becomes a necessity, the need for dependable mobility solutions continues to increase. A BlackBerry® Smartphone is no longer just a device: it is an investment. To get the most from it, you'll need a knowledgeable, reliable partner that can provide you with the products and services that will help you take full advantage of your investment. CDW is that partner. We offer an end-to-end solution for all your mobility needs, including an unparalleled level of support, resources and expertise — all in one place.

As one of BlackBerry's top value-added reseller, CDW offers an unmatched value. Here's how:

It's your choice

CDW can activate your BlackBerry device with the following national carriers: AT&T®, T-Mobile®, Sprint® and Verizon.¹ CDW helps you manage your carrier relationships — not replace them. With CDW you can keep your existing carrier, change carriers or balance multiple carriers through one central point of contact.

At your service

CDW offers much more than hardware. We can keep track of your inventory, offer BlackBerry Technical Support from purchase through deployment, and we can provide Enterprise Activation of your BlackBerry devices through use of our integrated logistics and distribution systems.

There when you need us

Through our partnerships with best-of-class service providers, CDW offers a 24-hour technical support help desk, device provisioning and configuration, end-user training and telecom inventory and expense management.

License management

CDW maintains your software and service licenses so that you never fall out of compliance and can reference your information quickly and easily.

Dedicated BlackBerry experts live here

CDW's Mobile Wireless Specialists receive on-going training on the ever-changing wireless environment and have the expertise to recommend, implement and manage your ongoing multi-carrier relationships and mobile wireless infrastructure.

Need another reason to partner with CDW?

At CDW, we can design, plan, implement and support a complete, comprehensive mobile solution built around you and your company's needs. Utilizing the relationships that we maintain with National Wireless Carriers, CDW offers unbiased advice. We're with you every step of the way, from planning and purchasing through deployment and disposition, helping you use technology to work smarter and more efficiently.

For more information, contact your CDW account manager at 800.800.4CDW or visit CDW.com/BlackBerry.

The Right Technology. Right Away.®

